

Stryker Recall of LifePak CR2 AEDs

Stryker has issued an Urgent Medical Device Safety Notice and Correction for their LifePak CR2 AEDs. You should be inspecting your AEDs once a month anyway. For the CR2s make sure that the green readiness indicator is flashing. If the green light is NOT flashing, please contact us immediately and we will contact Stryker to get your AED repaired. Please e-mail us directly or call 970-799-3260 to report the problem. Do not assume that a report on the website will reach us promptly. Those reports are for functioning AEDs and we process them as we have time.

The problem with the LifePak CR2 is with the lid magnet. If it becomes dislodged or is missing, the battery can be prematurely depleted. If you attempt to use the CR2 under this condition, it may not provide voice prompts. When this happens, use the ON/OFF button to turn the defibrillator on if required for emergency use. Once you are finished using the CR2, make sure the voice prompts do not continue after the lid is closed. If the voice prompts continue, use the ON/OFF button to turn the defibrillator off. As always, contact us following a use of the defibrillator and we will refurbish it and return it to you.

Protocols following an AED Use

Following an AED use, fill out a Patient Care Report and contact Heart Safe La Plata at 970-799-3260. The Patient Care Report can be found on our website at <http://heartsafelaplata.org/Assets/PDFs/PatientCareRpt.pdf> We will pick up the AED, download the recorded information, and return the AED ready for use at our expense.

The pads will go with the patient but please do not remove the battery. We need to inspect the AED and download its recorded information for review by our Medical Director. If you take the battery out, this information is lost.

Delay on Supplies for LifePak CR+ AEDs

Stryker is experiencing extended lead time when we order supplies for the CR+ AEDs. Because of this we have started ordering supplies five months ahead and hope to have them available when your CR+ AED needs replacements. The table below explains the indicators on the LCD display on the handle. Note that the defibrillator can still be used in an emergency with any indicator except, perhaps, the wrench.

Indicator	Meaning
	The OK indicator appears when the defibrillator is turned off and ready for use.
	The CHARGE-PAK indicator appears when the CHARGE-PAK battery charger needs to be replaced or is not installed in the defibrillator. If needed, the defibrillator can be used in an emergency.
	The attention indicator appears when the internal battery is not fully charged. When this indicator first appears, the internal battery can power the defibrillator for a minimum of 6 shocks or 42 minutes.
	The wrench indicator appears when a condition prevents or could prevent the defibrillator from operating normally.

The OK indicator appears when the defibrillator is turned off and ready for use.

The CHARGE-PAK indicator appears when the CHARGE-PAK battery charger needs to be replaced or is not installed in the defibrillator. If needed, the defibrillator can be used in an emergency.

The attention indicator appears when the internal battery is not fully charged. When this indicator first appears, the internal battery can power the defibrillator for a minimum of 6 shocks or 42 minutes.

The wrench indicator appears when a condition prevents or could prevent the defibrillator from operating normally.
